

2019 ART021 Shanghai Contemporary Art Fair will take place at Shanghai Exhibition Center

November 7-10, 2019

The highly anticipated seventh edition of ART021 Shanghai Contemporary Art Fair will take place from November 7 to 10 at Shanghai Exhibition Center. 110 world's leading galleries from 18 countries and 57 cities were selected to present contemporary art and design by established and emerging artists.

As one of the most important contemporary art fairs in Asia, ART021 reinforces its ongoing commitment to leveraging local resources with a global perspective, supporting contemporary Chinese art and cultivating new generations of domestic collectors. Local galleries continue to be strongly presented in the 2019 edition. More than 70% of galleries have spaces in China and other Regions in Asia. While many western blue-chip galleries once again return to ART021, this year's fair convenes a robust roster of young galleries participating in ART021 for the first time. Featured regions stretch from Europe and North America to emerging markets, including Southeast Asia and the Middle East.

ART021 has the honor to be part of the program of China Shanghai International Arts Festival for seven consecutive years. As one of the initiators of Shanghai International Artwork Trading Month that will be launched this November, ART021 continues to collaborate with art institutions, museums, auction houses and art galleries from home and abroad to promote the vigorous development of Shanghai art market and to make Shanghai the next global art center and destination.
